THE USE OF ΦΥΣΙΣ IN FIFTH-CENTURY GREEK LITERATURE

By
JOHN W. BEARDSLEE, JR.
New Brunswick Theological Seminary

THE author's purpose is to trace the history of the Greek word φύσις as known from its actual occurrences in extant literature—from its first use in Homer's Odyssey, through poetic and dramatic literature; its use by the sophists and the Greek historians and in the collection of medical tracts known as Hippocratica; and its philosophical content in the works of Plato and Aristotle. A special supplementary chapter is given on the use of the term by the last-mentioned writers, and there is also an index of passages showing the fifth-century occurrences of the word, with references to Dr. Beardslee's book and to the editions used.

A Manual for Writers

By JOHN M. MANLY
Head of the Department of English of the University of Chicago and JOHN A. POWELL

A book designed to aid authors and all others who are concerned with the writing of English. It treats in a clear and convenient way the matters of grammar, spelling, and general form about which writers need to be informed, and gives full directions on the preparation of "copy" for the printer and the correcting of proof. The chapter on letter-writing is unique and gives just the help that is constantly wanted and that is not found in other manuals.

A Harmony of the Synoptic Gospels in Greek

By ERNEST D. BURTON and EDGAR J. GOODSPEED

$3.00, postpaid $3.15

¶ The problem of determining the relations of our first three gospels to one another, and ascertaining their sources, though studied for over a century, is one that is still but partially solved. Yet on its solution depends the decision of many important questions concerning early Christian thought and especially the teaching of Jesus. The purpose of this volume is to facilitate that careful comparison of the several gospels, sentence by sentence, even word by word, which is the first condition of success in the study of the mutual relation of the gospels, and an indispensable basis for advanced study of their contents.
